BERLIN AWAITS OFFICIAL NEWS

Germany May Disavow Torpedoing of Arabic.

MODIFIES NAVAL WARFARE

Count von Bernstorff Calls at State Department and Says Germany Will Offer Full Satisfaction to the United States for the Loss of Two American Lives.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Germany's intention to offer full satisfaction to the United States for the sinking of the liner Arabic, with a loss of two American lives, was communicated formally to the state department by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, on instructions from the Berlin foreign office.

The ambassador read to Secretary Lansing a memorandum outlining the position of his government. It promised that if it was found that the Arabic was attacked without warning the imperial government not only would promptly disavow the act, but would give the United States "full satisfaction." This, it is well known, would have to include reparation for the Americans lost and assurances that such tragedies would not be repeated.

No further developments in the situation are expected now until the submarine commander who sank the Arabic has reported to Berlin.

In the meantime President Wilson and Secretary Lansing, though visibly encouraged and relieved by Count von Bernstorff's assurances and reports from Ambassador Gerard on his conferences with Foreign Minister von Jagow, are in a waiting attitude.

Germany Must Disavow Act.

Before the American government can speak there must be forthcoming the German disavowal and explanation of what all evidence received has seemed to prove was an "unfriendly act."

It became known that the state department has been informed that Germany is ready to renew discussion of the Lusitania incident and to offer reparation for the American lives lost when that vessel was sent to the bottom without warning by a German submarine.

There has been no response to the last American note on this subject and it is known that the United States would not listen to reparation proposals with the situation created by the sinking of the Arabic still pending.

With the attack on the Arabic disavowed, however, and guarantees given against repetition, a German communication explaining that the Lusitania was torpedoed as a reprisal against Great Britain under a misapprehension that it was armed and that killing of Americans was regretted and not intended, and offering reparation, probably would pave the way for amicably closing the incident.

Only One Shadow Remains.

About the only shadow over the optimism in official circles was cast by the "if" in the promise conveyed by Ambassador von Bernstorff. Some officials thought a disposition by Germany to question the evidence that the Arabic, a peaceful passenger vessel, unarmed and inoffensive, was attacked without warning, might lead to interminable and unsatisfactory negotiations.

In German quarters confidence was felt that the submarine commander's report would soon reach Berlin.

German officials have made it plain that their government, as soon as it has relieved the strain upon its relations with the United States by limiting submarine activities, will ask the American government to demand that Great Britain and her allies cease interfering with legitimate neutral commerce and thus permit the importation of foodstuffs for the German civil population.

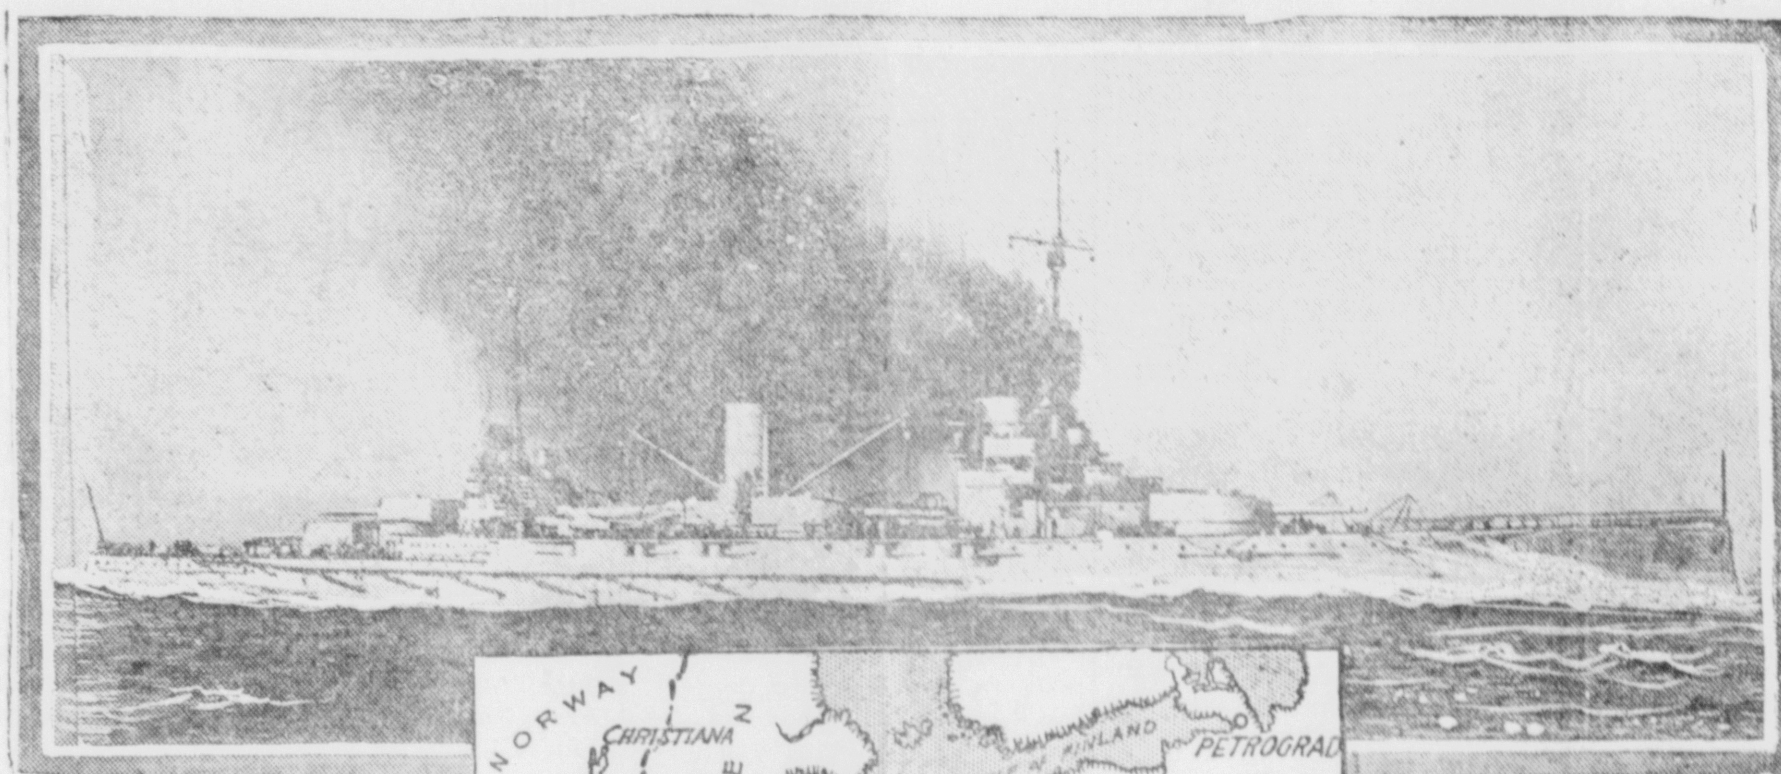

The American note to England on this subject has been in preparation for some time and probably will be dispatched as soon as the negotiations with Germany are on the way to satisfactory adjustment.

The communication practically was completed when the allies' action in declaring cotton contraband made re-drafting necessary.

Government to Meet Expense.

Houston, Tex., Aug. 28.—The war department has authorized Governor Ferguson of Texas to make requisition for funds to meet the expense of the annual encampment of the Texas national guard. It was said that disturbed conditions on the Mexican border had induced the war department to give the Texas militia a chance for rehabilitation.

FRENCH CONFIDENT RUSSIA WILL WIN

Leaders Express Faith in Joint Telegram to Grand Duke.

Paris, Aug. 28.—A joint telegram expressing entire confidence in the future has been sent to Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, by President Poincaré, Minister of War Millerand and General Joffre, the French commander. The text of the message is:

"Our thoughts turn toward your troops, who at the present moment merit the confidence of the whole world by reason of the struggle they are making. With complete confidence in the final victory of your armies, we beg you to accept our respectful homage and fervent good wishes, together with the assurance that more than ever before our armies are happy and proud to co-operate with your highness and your valiant soldiers."

The grand duke replied: "The sentiments you express toward the Russian army are reciprocated. The close relations and common accord existing between the commanders of all the allied armies is a certain omen of the glorious end in which, with God's aid, we will participate."

T. R. ASKED TO JOIN ALLIES

Coterie of Milwaukee Germans Tender Colonel Purse of $250.

Milwaukee, Aug. 28.—Charles Mechel, a Milwaukee German, representing a number of his fellow countrymen here, has mailed a letter to former President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, making him a financial offer to go to Europe and join the allies in their fight against the kaiser and his soldiers. The letter is:

"Dear Colonel: We see by the papers that you want a fight with the Germans. Representing a small coterie of local men who have subscribed $250 I tender you this amount to defray your expenses in joining the Canadians going to France. This will give you the time of your life."

The Germans sent out their fleet from its hiding place in the Kiel Canal to land troops in Pernov Bay, which is within the Gulf of Riga, and as a result they lost the great battle cruiser von Moltke, sister ship of the mighty Goeben, which is believed to have been sunk long since in the Black Sea, and a dozen or more cruisers and torpedo boats.

They had four great barges of troops about to land at Pernov when the Russians, aided by British submarines sighted them. The battle lasted for several days during which the von Moltke and two or three lighter cruisers went down, and seven of eight torpedo boats were sunk. It was the purpose of the Germans, whose battle line on the land reaches near Riga, to land troops to join their forces approaching Riga. They were caught, and with the defeat they were pushed back on land by the forces of the czar, so they are now far from Riga.

ATTEMPTING GREAT STROKE

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 28.—The Germans are attempting the greatest stroke of the war by concentrating large German forces against the weakest Russian spot in an attempt to split the Slavs into three sections before winter sets in. Great masses of men and metal are hurled against the retreating Slavs in the region of the Vilna. Von Hindenburg hopes to sever the Brest-Litovsk armies. Mackensen has reinforced the Austrians and is attempting to rush them northward through Kovel. Von Hindenburg's blows are the heaviest yet given. The Times had an interview with the Russian foreign minister, Sazanoff, saying the German attempts to scatter germs of discontent throughout Russia has failed.

The Turks have forced 3,000 Greeks to leave home for the winter.

(By United Press)

Petrograd, Aug. 28.—An official statement has been issued in denial of the German claim that they had captured Brest-Litovsk, and said the Russians evacuated Brest-Litovsk on account of its being considered inadvisable to be penned up within it with a hundred thousand men. Then the forts on the left bank of the Bug held off the enemy until the main garrison rejoined the field forces.

CYMRIC CARRIES AMERICANS

Passengers Believe Ship is Safest of British Registry.

New York, Aug. 28.—Newspaper reports of the new attitude of Germany regarding warfare caused passengers who sailed for Liverpool aboard the White Star liner Cymric to express their belief that the ship was the safest of British registry to leave this port for Europe since the beginning of the war.

There were 194 passengers aboard the Cymric, among the number being a few Americans.

RUSSIAN FORCES STILL RETIRING

Teuton Armies Aiming at Railway to Petrograd.

LEAVE NO GUNS OR BOOTY

Slaves Are Carrying to the Rear Everything Movable That Might Prove of Use to the Invaders and Burning What They Are Unable to Take With Them.

London, Aug. 28.—The Germans, in full possession of the entire Brest-Litovsk line, have resumed the offensive in the Baltic provinces and are pressing the Russians both in the districts southeast of Mitau and to the east of Kovno in an effort to reach the main line of railway which passes through Vilna and Dvinsk to Petrograd.

This may, in time, prove the most important of the German operations, although at present they are using more troops in the pursuit of the Russians who are retiring from Brest-Litovsk and the line on either side of the fortress.

It is expected, however, that with the fall of Brest-Litovsk, which had been followed by that of Olita, south of Kovno, the armies of Field Marshal von Hindenburg will be reinforced and make another attempt to cut off the retreat of the Russians. It is believed here, however, that it now is too late to accomplish this purpose.

The Russians apparently had evacuated both Brest-Litovsk and Olita before the Germans arrived, as the latter make no claim to the capture of guns and booty.

The Austrian official report states that Archduke Joseph Ferdinand found the town of Komienitz-Litovsk in flames when he arrived. There are indications, therefore, that the Russians still are carrying to the rear everything movable that might prove of use to the invaders and burning what they are unable to take with them.

Russian Armies Still Intact.

The intimation that the Russians have fortified another front, pending an opportunity for a renewed offensive, has received some confirmation. It is said the new line is being strengthened by all the latest methods known to military engineers. The Russian armies still are intact, with virtually all their guns and prospects of a more plentiful supply of ammunition.

For this reason, military writers here are of the opinion that Grand Duke Nicholas should be given a stand, as the Austro-German losses must have been very heavy, especially during the three weeks which intervened between the fall of Warsaw and the occupation of Brest-Litovsk.

The capture of several German trenches in the Vosges was reported by Paris, but what is considered more significant is the continued activity of the air squadron which has been bombarding German positions in France, as well as munitions factories across the German border.

There has been no further news from the Dardanelles or the Balkans, but it now is certain that Serbia is prepared to make the necessary sacrifices to satisfy Bulgaria and gain her cooperation in behalf of the allies. It may be several days, however, before the Serbian reply to the representations of the entente powers is received. The vote of the Serbian parliament was only upon the principle involved and negotiations now are proceeding between Serbia, Greece and Roumania, regarding the exact nature of the concessions to be made Bulgaria.

BISHOP HEFFRON
BADLY WOUNDED

Supposedly Demented Priest
Shoots Him Twice.

HAS CHANCE TO RECOVER

Father Lesches, Who Is Under Arrest at Winona, Minn., Charged With the Shooting, Acts Strangely and Declares That the Bishop Had Not Treated Him Right.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 28.—Right Rev. Bishop Patrick R. Heffron of the diocese of Winona, former president of St. Thomas college at St. Paul, who was shot by Father L. M. Lesches, a priest said to be demented, who had been spending the past week at St. Mary's college vainly endeavoring to secure an appointment, was announced to have bright chances for recovery by Dr. H. F. McGaughey of Winona, in charge.

The assurance for recovery was so optimistic that Dr. William J. Mayo, who made a spectacular run from Rochester in his high power automobile, left, saying that nothing more could be done except to let nature take its course.

One bullet which had lodged in the left thigh of the bishop was removed shortly after the shooting, but the other remains in the walls of the right lung and, according to physicians, may never be removed.

Rev. J. J. Lawler, auxiliary bishop of St. Paul, arrived and is at the bedside of Bishop Heffron.

Scores of telegrams were received from all over the country with expressions of sympathy.

Father Lesches, lying on a cot in the Winona county jail, seemed in a dazed condition. He moaned frequently and complained of a pain in his stomach.

"It's all a dream," he said, when questioned. "I remember the flash of a gun. Then I left. I don't understand it."

"When did you get the gun?" Sheriff Farr asked.

"A long time ago," was the reply.

The prisoner suddenly pressed his hand to his abdomen with the exclamation, "Oh, my stomach." After breathing heavily in short gasps he said:

"My brother was killed in France shortly after he was ordained in June. Bishop Heffron did not treat me right. I got my revolver and practiced shooting at rabbits and became a fairly good shot."

Discovery of the Amazon.

The Amazon river was discovered from the west, in spite of its being the largest body of water emptying into the Atlantic. A party of Spanish conquistadores reached its headwaters after an unspeakably difficult passage of the Andes. Then they built a boat and floated down, later to navigate along the coast to the Caribbean settlements.

DEVELOPMENTS OF
WEEK ON RANGE

South Range Continues to Attract Interest, Wilcox Mine Installing More Machinery

NEW MINE NEAR BRAINERD

Another Being Developed in Section 21 Adjoining, East Four Miles from Brainerd

The south range continues to attract interest. The Rowley mine of the Barrows Mining Co. has commenced shaft operations and is located south of and adjoining the town of Barrows. At the north end of town the C. B. Buckman interests of Little Falls have proved up a property. There is a movement on foot for the Buckman people to have a mining company mine it or else they may negotiate to work the former Hanna mine of the Brainerd Mining Co. and drift through to their property adjoining the mine.

At Brainerd the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine is getting out a stockpile. Water encountered is being handled by steam and electric pumps. The Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore Co. is putting in an auxiliary electric plant to be used in case of trouble on the main power line. It will be a 150 kilowatt generator driven by a 175 horsepower straight line simple engine. A new 1600 gallon electric Cameron pump is also being purchased for the purpose of relief to the large electric pump now in commission. This will make the Wilcox the most complete on the range and will permit the mine to undertake a large development plan during the coming winter. The management advise that the September and October output will be 15,000 tons per month. The output for August will be about 9,000 tons, total for the season will be about 75,000 tons.

There are reports of a new mine in section 22, being about four miles east of Brainerd, to be put in by the Adair Development Co. Boilers and other equipment is now on the ground. Near by in section 21 the Longyear people have shown up a fine body of ore, believed by many to be the best and most uniform on the entire range. The Adams mine at Oreland may start up soon. A drill is operating at Cedar lake half a mile south of the Northern Pacific tracks.

On the north range the chief point of interest is the advent of the Britlings on the range, manganiferous ores attracting them. They are reported to contemplate the workings of the north half of the southeast quarter of section 3, township 46, range 29, holdings of the section 30 Development Co. The Nequaunee, Mich., branch of the company had engineers and experts on the ground. The property was drilled by Osterberg & Johnson years ago.

A steel headframe is being put up at the Croft mine in Crosby. The Hill Crest pit mine is making good progress removing overburden by the hydraulic method. General Manager Van Eyra will soon cut out the pit on the south side to a point under the Soo tracks. This land years ago was drilled by B. Magoffin, Jr., and by Cole & McDonald.

A visit at the Rowe mine of the Pittsburgh Steel Ore Co. shows a scene of activity. The big concentrator is working day and night. Two shovels are working, one being employed day and night on the rich ore and the other accumulating enough lean ore in the day to keep the concentrator going day and night.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine is working on manganiferous ore contract. The Kennedy mine of the Rogers, Brown Ore Co. at Cuyuna has completed shipping its stockpile and its monthly output has been increased from 16,000 to 20,000 tons.

James M. Elder and others have given a mining lease to the E. J. Longyear Co. covering the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 13, township 45, range 30. The Thompson mine of the Inland Steel Co. is reported to be shipping 60 cars daily. Its concentrator is working steadily and giving good satisfaction. The Iron Mountain mine is now producing about three carloads of ore every day. Additional men have been put to work. Very good manganiferous ore is reported as being found, some reported as high as 39 per cent manganese. Water handled is very small. Franklin Merritt was on the range looking after his drilling in section 33, township 47, range 29. It is reported that the Flynn property will be leased to a new concern and mining will begin in a short time.

The report of Mining Inspector Swanson for the year ending June, 1915, is of interest. The Kennedy mine is reported to have shipped in that period 133,751 tons. It employed 120 men underground and 25 on the surface, operating 12 months of the year. The Thompson mine of the Inland Steel Co. shipped 217,645 tons from its open pit, stripped 60,000 cubic yards, employed 85 men in nine months of the year. The Armour No. 1 stripped 610,960 cubic yards, employed 60 men in stripping and worked three months. The Armour No. 2 shipped from its shaft 385,933 tons, had 185 men employed underground and 20 on the surface, working 12 months of the year period.

The Rowe pit mine of the Pittsburgh Steel Ore Co. shipped 78,000 tons from its pit, removed 2,000,000 yards of stripping, and worked 135 men for nine months. The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs shipped 52,697 tons and worked 75 men underground, 20 on the surface and worked four months. The Ironton mine of the Cuyuna-Duluth Mining Co. shipped 40,740 tons, worked 45 men underground and 15 on the surface and worked four months. The Wilcox mine at Woodrow shipped 9,971 tons, worked 50 men underground and 24 on the surface 12 months of the period. The Iron Mountain mine shipped 658 tons for the year ending June 1915 as covered by the mining inspector's report, had 10 men working underground and 20 on the surface for four months. The Pennington pit mine removed 115,832 yards of overburden and had 85 men at work for six months.

The Hill Crest pit mine removed 161,000 yards of overburden, working 17 men for two months. The Mahanomen mine stripped 49,558 yards and employed 125 men, for a month. For the year ending June 1915 there was shipped from the Cuyuna range 672,350 tons from underground mines, 295,645 tons from pit mines. The number of cubic yards stripped amounted to 2,997,350 yards. Men employed underground on the range were 540 and on the surface 344, and at stripping 287.

The mines not operating at present are the Meacham of the Rogers-Brown Ore Co. at Crosby, the Barrows mine of the Brainerd Mining Co. at the north end of Barrows, the Adams mine at Oreland, the Picknanks-Mather shaft near Woodrow, the Cuyuna-Duluth mine at Ironton, the Duluth-Brainerd near Iron Mountain. Several of these mines are expected to commence operations this season.

The ore output, says Mining Inspector Swanson, has increased from 674,516 tons to 968,495 tons. Four new mines opened in the period covered by his report. Drilling has been done on property of Crow Wing county, formerly the county poor farm, where ore in quality and quantity to justify mining has been provided up. Three fatalities occurred during the year. New rules and regulations governing all employees have been issued and posted conspicuously and even printed in book form and circulated. These are extremely strenuous and emphatic in dealing with safety as the first consideration. It is made the duty of every man to know absolutely at all times the dangerous situations and hazards connected with operations wherein he may be concerned, and to be governed accordingly. Either he must remove or report any situation that he considers unsafe.

Committees have been appointed from the ranks of the workmen at some of the mines to co-operate with the employers.

The Iron Trade Review says that the Illinois Steel Co. is now operating 24 of its 25 blast furnaces, the Bethlehem Steel Co. is blowing five out of six, and the Lackawanna Steel Co. is driving all of its seven stacks. A new 22-inch mill has begun rolling at Bethlehem, and work is being pushed on another battery of open-hearth furnaces. Lackawanna expects to light four additional steel-making furnaces next week, when it will have a total of 18 open-hearth and two Talbot furnaces in operation. Obsolete mills that have been out of the running for many years are being prepared for operation, and thus the iron and steel output grows apace.

Steel Corporation lake ore shipments will exceed 20,000,000 tons, indicating a total movement of 42,000,000 tons for the season. Corporation rail contracts total 30,000 tons, of which 15,000 will be rolled by Tennessee.

Folsom, Cal., Aug. 28.—Frank Crooks, a convict, was hanged here for the murder of Captain J. P. Drowry and Guard F. Maher in a prison break last October. Crooks came to the penitentiary under sentence of death, which was commuted to life imprisonment.

The Forests on the Niger.

The insects of Africa are expert disease carriers, and they come in such numbers on the Niger that one hardly dares to use one's lamp or go too near a light of any sort at night. These forests on the Niger are deadly places for all their haunting attraction and take a big toll both of European and native life. Yet the first three days on the Niger, with all its mud and its smell and its mangrove flies and its frogs and its crickets, are enough to give the newcomer an inkling of the drawing power, the fascination, of what is probably the most unhealthy country in the world.—W. B. Thompson in Blackwood's.

WOMAN'S REALM

Fall Fashions Metalliferous

BY MARGARET MASON, (Written for the United Press)

Oh you metalliferous maid You've a heart of gold I ween And the glory of your hair Has a burnished copper sheen, Cloth of gold and silver gauze Fashion's fabrics for the Fall, Trim your garments everyone Frocks and hats and wraps withal Silver threads among the gold Means naught old—it's very new, You are on your mettle, dear, And much metal is on you.

New York, Aug. 27.—The fall fashions are simply metalliferous if you ask me. Mere husbands are used to the alchemy that turns their perfectly good gold and silver into frills and furbelows for the fair sex but now to and behold, frills and furbelows are turned into gold and silver. In the early showing of fall models there is hardly a hat, a wrap or a frock that doesn't flaunt a bit of galloon, a glitter of gold and silver embroidery, or a twist and fold of lustrous metallic gauze about it somewhere.

For evening gowns the metallic materials are most effective, especially the gorgeous brocades of old blue and gold, silver and old rose and many wondrous color combinations. They look like products of the looms of romance and seem to give the lie to the broad hint that pastel tints would be the only things in the color line for the coming season. These magnificent metalliferous materials are naturally made up on the simplest straight lines, depending solely on their own beauty for adornment.

The princess lines that are already casting their curvilinear shadows before are perfect when carried out in these fantastic fabrics. The straight hung medieval effects are also good. Obviously these gorgeous garments are to be worn only by the most stately and Amazonian of the sex but let not the petite and clinging vine despair. She may metallize as well by touching up a frothy frock of net with high lights of gold or silver gauze.

Such a fascinating confection is an evening gown of white tulle. The multi-layered skirt has its inner layer bound around its ankle length with a fold of silver gauze while the shorter outer layer is caught up in kirtle effect on each side with a cluster of silver gauze garlands. The bodice consists of a wisp of the tulle over each shoulder, a wide girle of the silver and a spray of the silver blooms at the corsage. A more delectable costume were hard to imagine unless it be a vision of bluish rose tulle whose fluffy skirt is caught high up on the left side with a long loop of purple velvet ribbon over a petticoat of golden gauze. A wide girle of the gold is held in its proper place by a fluff of the tulle over one shoulder and a band of the purple over the other.

Embroidery in gold and silver threads and steel and copper beads is another favorite method of transmitting metals into garments and indeed a most striking one in connection with the lustrous velvets that are to be made for fall and winter wear. Cunning little velvet hats like the bell crowned beavers of the beauty of old have huge made buckles of gold or silver gauze and hat bands of the same. Flat velvet shapes in black or purple with wreaths of bright colored yarn flowers combined with gold and silver fruits are a dazzle of gorgeousness. They are simply bound to go to your head. Most of them are bound in metallic material, too.

The elaborate afternoon gowns and suits for autumn are almost invariably shown in redingote or full skirted Russian coat models with wide bands of fur around the skirts of the coats, the cuffs and the collars and always a gleam of gold or silver peeked out on the velvet or satin of the principle fabric. Velvet in combination with broadcloth, serge, satin or chiffon forms all the smartest suits and ever is there fur and the metal mark.

You certainly have to look like ready money this fall to be in style so if you are short on cash but have a heart of gold you'd better wear it on your sleeve.

BABIES AT STATE FAIR

Country Districts Liable to Carry Away Championships this Year as More are Entered

Babies from the country are more than holding their own in the Baby Show at the Minnesota State Fair, Sept. 6 to 11, a bigger percentage of entries having been received from outside the Twin Cities this year than ever before. It looks very much as though the country districts would carry away both championships this year.

The baby show this year is to be held in a great glass cage in the center of the Woman's building, where all physical examinations are to be made. The mental examinations will be conducted in a closed apartment at the rear, where the attention of the babies cannot be diverted. Trained physicians and nurses will conduct the examinations.

The judging will continue through the week, and terminate Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11, with a big public meeting at which prizes will be bestowed on the successful entrants by Governor W. S. Hammond. Medals will be given the girls and watch fobs to the boys. If the champion boy or girl, or both, is a country baby, an extra prize of $25 will be given in addition to the $25 cash prize offered as a regular premium.

Baby entries, which are limited to 100 children in Minnesota, close September 2. Blanks may be obtained by writing to Secretary J. C. Simpson, Hamline, Minn.

"The Mystery of Edwin Drood" by Chas. Dickens. It may be seen to night only and it will be a rare opportunity to see a wonderful story by the world's most noted author. The story in brief runs that a young couple, Edwin Drood and Rosa Budd, are engaged to be married. This is not a love affair, but a marriage of convenience, according to the last expressed wish of their parents. They, however, are very fond of each other in a platonic way; but John Jasper, a young uncle of Edwin Drood, leader of the choir and organist of Cloisterham Cathedral, unbeknown to Edwin Drood, is madly in love with Rosa. His passion for her is so intense that it drives him to despair, and in secret, he seeks solace in opium and practices this vice in all manner of low places. A young man called Neville Landless, is also in love with Rosa, and his feelings of jealousy and enmity to Drood are, at all times, inflamed secretly by John Jasper. There is a quarrel after dinner one night at Jasper's home, and that night Edwin Drood disappears. Jasper immediately arouses the village to suspect Neville Landless, who, the morning after Drood's disappearance, left the village for a walking tour. A warrant is issued and Neville is brought back. Charged with the murder, he is imprisoned. No sign of Drood, though, comes to hand. The river is draged, but with no result. In the meantime Neville's sister Helena disappears, and shortly after a mysterious stranger, under the name of Mr. Datchery, appears in Cloisterham, takes rooms near John Jasper, and commences secret inquiries. A peculiar woman in black, the keeper of the opium den which John Jasper visits in London, also shadows Jasper. It is at this exciting period that the book finishes, stopped by the death of Charles Dickens, and all manner of writers have endeavored to fit in the concluding chapters of this story. In the version upon the screen, Mr. Terris suggested his own view in connection with the few of the best accepted theories.

THREE NIGHT RIDERS GET PRISON TERMS

Miner Admits Plying Lash to Merchant and His Wife.

Hartford, Ky., Aug. 28.—Three men who pleaded guilty in the Ohio county circuit court to be members of a band of night riders, so called "possum hunters," that for months spread terror throughout this section of Western Kentucky, are serving sentences in the state prison.

One other was acquitted by a jury and sixty-six defendants are awaiting trial. Ephraim Reisinger, a coal miner, admitted he plied the lash when Reuben Howard, a merchant, and his wife were whipped at Horton, the night of June 12. He sought to obtain a three-year sentence, as Jerry Clark and Ernest Webster, who participated in the whipping, had done earlier in the week.

Commonwealth's Attorney Ringo, however, refused a compromise and insisted that a five-year sentence be imposed. Howard testified he and Mrs. Howard were whipped until they bled. He said the reason given him for his beating was lack of industry. Reisinger, Clark and Webster were taken to prison after Reisinger accepted the longer term.

RAILROAD IS ORDERED SOLD

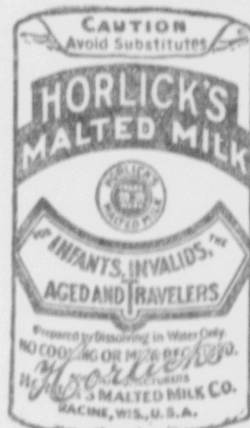

Minnesota Line to Be Disposed of at Auction.

Duluth, Aug. 28.—The property of the Mississippi, Hill City and Western railway was ordered sold at auction on the capital steps in St. Paul within ten days by Federal Judge Page Morris. He named Ira G. Briggs special master to conduct the auction. The court stipulated that no offer less than $100,000 should be accepted. The company operates a line from the Mississippi landing in the county of Aitkin to Hill City, the same county.

Creditors who claim $85,000 on mortgages, promissory and trust notes forced the action. The railroad is given the ten days in which to pay.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1915.

The English pound sterling was worth less in American money on Friday than at any other time since the British mint began coining it in 1817.

The editor of the Review has been named as postmaster at Mankato thus upholding the contention of Brother MacDonald, of St. Cloud, that to newspaper men belong the spools. We agree with the Times editor.

A Minneapolis firm has turned down a $10,000,000 war order for explosive shells by the allies, not because the firm thought it wrong to encourage the war but because it was not a good business deal, the margin of profit being too small to take the chances involved.

Bemidji has a new paper, the promoter being Paul Denhl, formerly of Worthington. Bemidji is a growing city but an over supply of newspapers may have the effect of reducing the real good that a lesser number might accomplish, and the established papers there were filling the bill nicely.

Charles B. Cheney has the following bit of political gossip in the Minneapolis Journal, and it seems that the rumor started some months ago regarding the likelihood of C. B. Buckman becoming an active candidate for congress in this district will not down:

Sixth district politicians believe that Clarence B. Buckman has a private tip that C. A. Lindbergh is going to run for governor. Otherwise they cannot account for the activity Buckman is showing as a candidate for congress. Mr. Buckman was the first man sent to congress by the sixth district in 1902, and after four years he was retired by Mr. Lindbergh. The present congressman seems well nigh invincible in the district, and though opposed by many leading republicans, he has won handsily in one primary contest after another. It is not believed that Buckman would be so keen to enter the primaries if he did not know that Lindbergh would be out of the way.

Congressman Lindbergh has had ambitions to be governor for some time, and prior to the 1910 campaign he had practically agreed to run, but changed his mind in Washington a few weeks after the conference in Minneapolis which settled on him as a candidate. He has been getting outside his district considerably in the last few months, helping in county option campaigns, and some of his friends have been feeling out sentiment for him on the governorship question. But in view of his past coyness none of this has been taken as conclusive evidence. Mr. Buckman's activity is the most significant thing that has turned up as to Lindbergh. Buckman evidently figures that, if he can get an organization started before Lindbergh announces himself for governor, other candidates may be kept out of the congressional race.

OLD DODGE AGAIN

Grain Gamblers, Says Bowden, N. D., "Guardian", Trying to Beat Down the Grain Prices

Under the heading "The Old Dodge Again," the Bowden, N. D., "Guardian" publishes a story of grain manipulation and advises the farmers not to accept all cock and bull stories to beat down the price. This is the article:

"The grain gamblers and the big combines are at their old tricks again as evidenced by the story circulated diligently by the 'kept' press last week that large European orders for wheat were being cancelled. There was no truth in the report. It was a pure fabrication sent out by the gamblers to beat down the price now that the farmers are about ready to put their wheat on the market. These kind of stories will be the regular order from now until the bigger per cent of the wheat has left the hands of the original producer and has been garnered into the bins of the crooked manipulators. You will be told about once a week that the Dardanelles are 'again' opened, and any other cock and bull story that can be used to push down the price of wheat until the grafters have got hold of it, and then the price will go up. Farmers should fortify themselves against this condition as best they can. It is unfortunate that the grain grafters find such willing tools in the daily press, but the wise producer will take with a grain of salt anything he reads in the daily press. A clean independent press could do much for the producers but unfortunately there 'aint no such animal.'—Carrington Record.

General Cause of Industrial Unrest

The following was given out to day by Chairman Frank Walsh, as to his personal findings as to the general cause of industrial unrest, and was concurred in by Commissioners John N. Lemmon, James O'Connell and Austin N. Garrison:

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28—Charged by your honorable body with an investigation to discover the underlying causes of dissatisfaction in the industrial situation, we herewith present the following findings and conclusions, and we urge for them the most earnest consideration, not only by the congress, but by the people of the nation, to the end that evils which threaten to defeat American ideals and to destroy the well being of the nation may be generally recognized and effectively attacked.

We find the basic cause of industrial dissatisfaction to be low wages. Or, stated in another way; the fact that the workers of the nation through compulsory and oppressive methods, legal and illegal, are denied the full product of their toil.

We further find that unrest among the workers in industry workers in industry has grown to proportions that already menace the social good will and the peace of the nation. Citizens numbering millions smart under a sense of injustice and oppression born of the conviction that the opportunity is denied them to acquire for themselves and their families that degree of economic well being necessary for the enjoyment of the material and spiritual satisfaction which alone make life worth living.

Bitterness, bred of unfulfilled need for sufficient food, clothing and shelter for themselves and their wives and children, has been further nourished in the hearts of these millions by resentment against the arbitrary power that enables the employer, under our present industrial conditions, to control not only the workman's opportunity to earn his bread, but oftentimes through the exercise of his power, to dictate his social, political and moral environment. By thwarting human passion, for liberty and the solitude of the husband and father for his own, modern industry has kindled a spirit in these dissatisfied millions that lies deeper and springs from nobler impulses than physical need and human selfishness.

Among these millions and their leaders we have encountered a spirit, religious in its fervor and its sacrifice, for a cause held sacred. And we earnestly submit that only in the light of this spirit can the aggressive propaganda of the discontented be understood and judged.

The extent and depth of the industrial unrest can hardly be exaggerated. State and national conventions of labor organizations numbering many thousand of members cheered the names of leaders imprisoned for participation in a campaign of violence, conducted as one phase of a conflict with organized employers. Thirty thousand workmen in a single strike have followed the leadership of men who denounced the government and called for relentless warfare on organized society. Employers from coast to coast have created and maintained small private armies of armed men and have used these forces to intimidate and suppress their striking employee by deporting, imprisoning, assaulting and killing their leaders. Elaborate spy systems are maintained to discover and forestall the movements of the enemy. The use of state troops in policing strikes has bred a bitter hostility to the military system among members of labor organizations, and workers have been unable to enlist wage earners for sacred lines of the nation's defenses. Courts and legislators have been rightfully accused of serving employers to the defeat of justice, and while counter charges come from employers and their agents, it is with almost negligible exceptions, the wage earners who believe, assert and prove that the very institutions of their country have been perverted by the power of the employer. Prison records for labor leaders have become badges of honor, in the eyes of many of their people, and great masses of meetings throughout the nation cheered denunciations of court and court decisions.

To the support of militant and aggressive propaganda of organized labor has come, within recent years, a small but rapidly growing host of ministers of the gospel, college professors, writers, journalists and others of the professional classes and distinguished in many instances with exceptional talent, which they devote to agitation, with no hope of material reward, and a devotion that can be explained only in the light of the fervid religious spirit which animates this organized industrial unrest.

We find the unrest here described to be but the latest manifestation of the age-long struggle of the race for freedom of opportunity for every individual to live his life to its highest ends. As the nobles of England wrung their independence from King John, and as the tradesmen of France broke through the ring of privilege enclosing the Three Estates, so today the millions who serve society in arduous labor on the highways, and aloft on scaffolding, and by the sides of whirling machines, are demanding that they too, and their children, shall enjoy all of the blessings that artify and make beautiful this life.

The unrest of the wage earners has been augmented by recent changes and developments in industry. Chief of these are the rapid and universal introduction and extension of machinery of production, by which unskilled workers may be substituted for the skilled, and an equally rapid development of means

Germans Use Elephant Like Hindoos

When the Germans began to clear up the debris of the war in a Belgian village they had taken they found themselves short of men. Some one thought of the Hagenbeck elephants in Hamburg, and one was sent for. He was easily trained to do heavy work, the work of several men, and this photograph shows him working as calmly as he might have done in India.

ANSWERED TENTATIVE PEACE SUGGESTIONS

By J. W. T. Mason, for United Press

Premier Viviani of France and the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey, have answered in entirely different moods the tentative peace suggestions which are coming from Germany.

The French prime minister's reply is a vague reference to France's resolve to fight until Belgium is freed and Alsace and Lorraine are reconquered. Sir Edward Grey goes much further than this patriotic generality. With that instinct for statesmanship which he possesses in large measure England's foreign secretary discusses the German demand for freedom of the seas and admits it is a fit subject for negotiation. This, indeed, is the longest step toward peace England has taken since the war began. Sir Edward links the demand for freedom of the seas with the counterproposal for limitation of armament and a suggestion for universal peace. Germany must be bound pledges as well as England, says Sir Edward.

Germany also must abandon any effort to collect a war indemnity from the Allies and must not attempt to impose her will on the world—which means, in all probability, that peace terms cannot be dictated by Germany, but must be made in a general agreement. While not reiterated by Sir Edward Grey, England will require the evacuation of Belgium as part of the price of peace; but the future status of Alsace and Lorraine must be a secondary matter for the British empire. If France cannot recover her lost provinces by herself, England would scarcely be justified in killing off her own male population to make a territorial gift to the French.

Premier Viviani's declaration that the war shall continue until Alsace and Lorraine are won is not, in all probability, arousing much interest in Berlin. This speech was addressed to the chamber of deputies, which is growing restless under the strain of an indecisive conflict, rather than to the German foreign office. But Sir Edward's statement is altogether different. It is a reply to the German chancellor's address to the reichstag and that fact alone makes it of great importance.

The British foreign minister does not adopt a tone which repels future public exchanges between himself and Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Unquestionably it can be said that the first informal peace negotiations are now, in fact, under way. Instead of being conducted through intermediaries they are taking the form of public statements delivered by responsible ministers of England and Germany. Each nation is cautiously sounding the other, after the first extravagances have been brushed aside, a common basis for consenting to an armistice may reveal itself.

of rapid transportation and communication, by which private capital has been enabled to organize in great corporations and large factories has been furthered by the necessity of employing large sums of capital in order to purchase and install expensive machinery, the use of which is practicable only when production is conducted on a large scale. Work formerly done at home or in small neighborhood shops has been transferred to great factories where the individual worker becomes an impersonal element under the control of impersonal corporations, without voice in determining the conditions under which he works, and largely without interest in the success of the enterprise or the disposal of the products. Women in increasing numbers have followed their work from the home to the factory, and even children have been enlisted.

Now more than ever the profits of great industries under centralized control pour into the coffers of the stockholders and directors who never have so much as visited the plants, and who perform no service in return. And while vast inherited fortunes representing zero in social service to the credit of their possessors, automatically treble and multiple in volume, two-thirds of those who toil for eight to twelve hours a day receive less than enough to support themselves and their families in decency and comfort. From childhood to the grave they dwell in the shadow of fear that their only resource—their opportunity to toil—shall be taken away from them, through accident, illness, the caprice of a foreman, or the fortunes of the industry. The lives of their babies are snuffed out by bad air in cheap lodgings, and the lack of nourishment and care which they cannot buy. Fathers and husbands die or are maimed in accidents and their families receive a pittance, or succumb in mid-life and they receive nothing.

And when these unfortunates seek, by the only means within reach, to better their lot by organizing to lift themselves from helplessness to some measure of collective power, with which to wring living wages from their employers, they find too often arrayed against them not only the massed power of capital, but every arm of the government that was created to enforce guarantees of equality and justice.

We find that many entire communities exist under the arbitrary economic control of corporation officials charged with the management of an industry or group of industries, and we find that in such communities political liberty does not exist, and its forms or hollow mockeries. Give to the employer power to discharge without cause, to grant or withhold to the thousands the opportunity to earn their bread, and the liberties of such a community lie in the hollow of the employer's hand. Free speech, free assembly, and a free press may be denied, as they have been denied time and again, and the employer's agents may be placed in public office to do his bidding.

In larger communities where espionage becomes impossible, the wage earner who is unsupported by a collective organization may enjoy freedom of expression outside the work shop but there his freedom ends. And it is a freedom more apparent than real. For the house he lives in, the food he eats, the clothing he wears, the environment of his wife and children, and his own health and safety, are in the hands of the employer, through the arbitrary power which he exercises in fixing his wages and working conditions.

The social responsibility for these unfortunate conditions may be fixed with reasonable certainty. The responsibility as such blame as attached thereto, cannot be held to rest upon employers, since in the maintenance of the evils of low wages, long hours and bad factory conditions, and in their attempts to gain control of economic and industries and political advantages, which would promote their interests, they have merely followed the natural bent of men engaged in the struggle of competitive industry. The responsibility for conditions which have been described above, rests primarily upon the workers, who, blind to their collective strength, and often deaf to the cries of their fellows, have suffered exploitation and invasions of their most sacred rights without resistance. A large measure of responsibility must, however, attach to the great mass of citizens, who though not directly involved in the struggle with capital and labor, have failed to realize that their own prosperity was dependent upon the welfare of all classes of the community, and that their rights were bound up with the rights of every other individual. But, until the workers themselves realize their responsibility and utilize to the full, their collective power, no action, whether governmental or altruistic, can work any genuine and lasting improvement.

Fourteen years before Abraham Lincoln was called to the high office where he immortalized his name, he uttered these great truths:

"Inasmuch as good things are produced by labor, it follows that all such things of right belong to those whose labor produced them. But it so happened in all ages of the world, that some have labored and others have without labor enjoyed a large proportion of the fruits. This is wrong and should not continue. To secure to each laborer, the whole product of his labor, or as nearly as possible is a worthy subject of any good government."

With this lofty ideal for a goal, under the sublime leadership of the deathless Lincoln, we call upon your citizenship regardless of politics, or economic conditions, to use every means of agitation, all avenues of education, and every department and function of government to eliminate the injustices exposed by this commission, to the end that each laborer may secure the whole product of his labor."

SHOT BY HIS OWN REVOLVER

Indiana State's Attorney Asserts Rev. Kayser Was Slain in Quarry.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 28.—Rev. Edmund A. M. Kayser, who was shot and killed in his home at Tolleston, Ind., a suburb, Tuesday night, and whose murderer has not yet been apprehended, was buried.

The only development was the arrest of Thomas Mojesch, an inspector at the Gary steel mills, and a statement by State's Attorney Hunter that Kayser was shot by his own revolver as the result of a quarrel over business matters with persons who called on him the night of the murder.

The nature of the information against Mojesch was not revealed.

NEW METHOD OF SHOP PAYMENTS

Result of the Semi-Monthly Pay Day Law Recently Put in Force Men Will be

BLIGED TO CASH CHECKS

As They Please, Instead of Having Them Cashed at the Shops by Representatives of the Bank

The First National bank of Brainerd has for years cashed the pay checks for the employees of the Northern Pacific railway shop and other employes in this city, taking their money from the First National bank vaults to the shops each payday for this purpose, but the method has been changed owing to the frequent payments now necessary, the following communication having been received by this bank from C. A. Clark, treasurer of the company:

"On account of the employees receiving their pay now twice a month, putting in their checks being much smaller each pay day, and, on account of the additional expense incurred in doing so, I have decided to have each employee get his check cashed as he pleases. I desire to cancel my agreement with your bank, under which you have been taking money to the shops and cashing checks."

This new method will make it necessary for merchants and others to provide sufficient means to cash these checks during the evening following pay day, and will undoubtedly be very inconvenient as compared with the former method; both to the employe and their families, as well as merchants and others who may find it necessary to take care of these checks.

LESLIE HITT SOME PITCHER

Throws a No Hit, No Run Game for Bowdon, N. D., Against Goodrich, Score 10 to 0

That Leslie Hitt is developing into a first grade pitcher is evidenced by the front page story of the Bowdon-Goodrich game, score 10 to 0 in favor of Bowdon, N. D., where Hitt pitched a no hit no run game. The "Bowdon Guardian" of August 26 says:

"Manager Eynon and his bunch of champion ball players invaded the sacred precincts of our neighboring county of Sheridan last Sunday afternoon and gave the champion ball team of that county, Goodrich, a awful trouncing by a score of 10 to 0. Leslie Hitt, a friend of Emil Borgard, who came here a few weeks ago from Brainerd, Minn., to assist in the harvest fields did the pitching for the team and scored another no-hit no-run game for Bowdon. He was given almost perfect support by the team only one man getting to bat on an error and as he walked out two during the game only three of the Goodrich team reached first base. Only one ball was batted to the outfield which looked very much like a hit but left fielder Burkett took a hard chance and was successful in getting it and made a double play on it. The bunch did some sensational batting. The Goodrich team will play a return game here on Sunday, August 29th, and Manager McKinnon promises to give our boys a game worth the price of admission."

BRAINERD PLAYS AITKIN SUNDAY

Ed Bowman to Play in One of the Outer Garden Positions, Kalland on First

THE WEATHER MAN MAY FAIL

Aitkin Will Appear With About the Same Lineup, Confident Brainerd Will Meet Waterloo

According to the weather man, Brainerd is destined to meet some real weather tomorrow, Sunday, in their second clash with Aitkin for baseball honors. The forecast is cloudy and showers but despite the forewarnings, arrangements are being made to take care of a record crowd.

The team from Aitkin have played such a sterling class of ball, that the whole town are enthused and passing the buck around with the statement that Brainerd will meet their Waterloo tomorrow without any doubt. Practically the same lineup will be seen in action tomorrow as played in the first game while Brainerd will have as strong a team as presented in some earlier games.

Fred Cook, who has so well balanced the team, will be out of the lineup tomorrow having signed to play with Long Prairie in their wind-up series of the league. Harold Kalland who held down the first sack two years ago has again been prevailed upon to don the spangles while Ed Bowman, the Pine River boy who has pitched several games for Brainerd, will be in one of the outer gardens.

Tanner, Little Falls' first string catcher, will be behind the batter again and with an even break in luck, it is expected the local lads will again cop the bunting. The game will start at 3:30 promptly, weather permitting.

COL. THORP AT STATE FAIR

Given Half as Much Space as Allowed the Average County to Exhibit His Products

TALKS ON NEW FARMING PLAN

Two Years Ago Col. Thorp at His Own Expense had Exhibit and Was Only Man of County

Strawberries, plums, corn and other products raised in accordance with the new farming methods promulgated by Col. Freeman Thorp at his demonstration farm at Hubert will be exhibited in a special exhibit at the state fair. Col. Thorp is editor of the "New Farmer," published in Brainerd and which explains his new farming methods, the conservation of moisture, etc.

To Col. Thorp has been given space equal to half allowed the ordinary county exhibit and without charge, as the state fair management is desirous of having him exhibit and explain his methods.

Col. Thorp is energetic and public spirited, for one year when Crow Wing county had no exhibit he paid for his own space and had plums and other fruits on display.

Col. Thorp lays particular stress on the value of sandy land which under proper management becomes a great producer. "The best fertilizer in northern Minnesota," said Col. Thorp "is right at hand and has been previously unrecognized. It is the black muck deposits in wet meadows and acts as a splendid fertilizer for sandy land."

The booth is to be one of the handsomest in the agricultural building with its gold leaf finish and fine arrangement, while the unique decorative design being carried out under the able direction of Jas. ARE SUFFOCATED TO DEATH

General Pershing's Wife and Three Children Fire Victims.

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Warren Pershing, the five-year-old son of Brigadier General John J. Pershing, is the only survivor of General Pershing's family of five, having been rescued from the burning home at the Presidio of San Francisco, when his mother and three sisters, Mary Margaret, Anne and Helen, were suffocated and burned to death.

Warren was picked up unconscious on the floor of his bedroom by officers and men who crawled through the burning house, searching for Mrs. Pershing and her four children. Warren revived quickly. The others had died of suffocation before the rescuers reached them. They were buried about the head, hands and feet.

General Pershing, commanding troops on the Texas border, left El Paso when informed that his wife and three children were dead. He will arrive here Sunday morning.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1915.

The English pound sterling was worth less in American money on Friday than at any other time since the British mint began coining it in 1817.

The editor of the Review has been named as postmaster at Mankato thus upholding the contention of Brother MacDonald, of St. Cloud, that to newspaper men belong the spoils. We agree with the Times editor.

A Minneapolis firm has turned down a $10,000,000 war order for explosive shells by the allies, not because the firm thought it wrong to encourage the war but because it was not a good business deal, the margin of profit being too small to take the chances involved.

Bemidji has a new paper, the promoter being Paul Denhl, formerly of Worthington. Bemidji is a growing city but an over supply of newspapers may have the effect of reducing the real good that a lesser number might accomplish, and the established papers there were filling the bill nicely.

Charles B. Cheney has the following bit of political gossip in the Minneapolis Journal, and it seems that the rumor started some months ago regarding the likelihood of C. B. Buckman becoming an active candidate for congress in this district will not down:

Sixth district politicians believe that Clarence B. Buckman has a private tip that C. A. Lindbergh is going to run for governor. Otherwise they cannot account for the activity Buckman is showing as a candidate for congress. Mr. Buckman was the first man sent to congress by the new sixth district in 1902, and after four years he was retired by Mr. Lindbergh. The present congressman seems well high invincible in the district, and though opposed by many leading republicans, he has won handsily in one primary contest after another. It is not believed that Buckman would be so keen to enter the primaries if he did not know that Lindbergh would be out of the way.

Congressman Lindbergh has had ambitions to be governor for some time, and prior to the 1910 campaign he had practically agreed to run, but changed his mind in Washington a few weeks after the conference in Minneapolis which settled on him as a candidate. He has been getting outside his district considerably in the last few months, helping in county option campaigns, and some of his friends have been feeling out sentiment for him on the governorship question. But in view of his past coyness none of this has been taken as conclusive evidence. Mr. Buckman's activity is the most significant thing that has turned up as to Lindbergh. Buckman evidently figures that, if he can get an organization started before Lindbergh announces himself for governor, other candidates may be kept out of the congressional race.

OLD DODGE AGAIN

Grain Gamblers, Says Bowden, N. D., "Guardian". Trying to Beat Down the Grain Prices

Under the heading "The Old Dodge Again," the Bowden, N. D., "Guardian" publishes a story of grain manipulation and advises the farmers not to accept all cock and bull stories to beat down the price. This is the article:

"The grain gamblers and the big combines are at their old tricks again as evidenced by the story circulated diligently by the 'kept' press last week that large European orders for wheat were being cancelled. There was no truth in the report. It was a pure fabrication sent out by the gamblers to beat down the price now that the farmers are about ready to put their wheat on the market. These kind of stories will be the regular order from now until the bigger per cent of the wheat has left the hands of the original producer and has been garnered into the bins of the crooked manipulators. You will be told about once a week that the Dardanelles are 'again' opened, and any other cock and bull story that can be used to push down the price of wheat until the grafters have got hold of it, and then the price will go up. Farmers should fortify themselves against this condition as best they can. It is unfortunate that the grain grafters find such willing tools in the daily press, but the wise producer will take with a grain of salt anything he reads in the daily press. A clean independent press could do much for the producers but unfortunately there 'aint no such animal.'—Carrington Record.

The following was given out to day by Chairman Frank Walsh, as to his personal findings as to the general cause of industrial unrest, and was concurred in by Commissioners John N. Lemmon, James O'Connell and Austin N. Garrison:

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 28.—Charged by your honorable body with an investigation to discover the underlying causes of dissatisfaction in the industrial situation, we herewith present the following findings and conclusions, and we urge for them the most earnest consideration, not only by the congress, but by the people of the nation, to the end that evils which threaten to defeat American ideals and to destroy the well being of the nation may be generally recognized and effectively attacked.

We find the basic cause of industrial dissatisfaction to be low wages. Or, stated in another way, the fact that the workers of the nation through compulsory and oppressive methods, legal and illegal, are denied the full product of their toil.

We further find that unrest among the workers in industry workers in industry has grown to proportions that already menace the social good will and the peace of the nation. Citizens numbering millions smart under a sense of injustice and oppression born of the conviction that the opportunity is denied them to acquire for themselves and their families that degree of economic well being necessary for the enjoyment of the material and spiritual satisfaction which alone make life worth living.

Bitterness, bred of unfulfilled need for sufficient food, clothing and shelter for themselves and their wives and children, has been further nourished in the hearts of these millions by resentment against the arbitrary power that enables the employer, under our present industrial conditions, to control not only the workman's opportunity to earn his bread, but oftentimes through the exercise of his power, to dictate his social, political and moral environment. By thwarting human passion, for liberty and the solitude of the husband and father for his own, modern industry has kindled a spirit in these dissatisfied millions that lies deeper and springs from nobler impulses than physical need and human selfishness.

Among these millions and their leaders we have encountered a spirit, religious in its fervor and its sacrifice, for a cause held sacred. And we earnestly submit that only in the light of this spirit can the aggressive propaganda of the discontented be understood and judged.

The extent and depth of the industrial unrest can hardly be exaggerated. State and national conventions of labor organizations numbering many thousand of members cheered the names of leaders imprisoned for participation in a campaign of violence, conducted as one phase of a conflict with organized employers. Thirty thousand workmen in a single strike have followed the leadership of men who denounced the government and called for relentless warfare on organized society. Employers from coast to coast have created and maintained small private armies of armed men and have used these forces to intimidate and suppress their striking employee by deporting, imprisoning, assaulting and killing their leaders. Elaborate spy systems are maintained to discover and forestall the movements of the enemy. The use of state troops in policing strikes has bred a bitter hostility to the military system among members of labor organizations, and workers have been unable to enlist wage earners for sacred lines of the nation's defenses. Courts and legislators have been rightfully accused of serving employers to the defeat of justice, and while counter charges come from employers and their agents, it is with almost negligible exceptions, the wage earners who believe, assert and prove that the very institutions of their country have been perverted by the power of the employer. Prison records for labor leaders have become badges of honor. In the eyes of many of their people, and great masses of meetings throughout the nation cheered denunciations of court and court decisions.

To the support of militant and aggressive propaganda of organized labor has come, within recent years, a small but rapidly growing host of ministers of the gospel, college professors, writers, journalists and others of the professional classes and distinguished in many instances with exceptional talent, which they devote to agitation, with no hope of material reward, and a devotion that can be explained only in the light of the fervid religious spirit which animates this organized industrial unrest.

We find the unrest here described to be but the latest manifestation of the age-long struggle of the race for freedom of opportunity for every individual to live his life to its highest ends. As the nobles of England wrung their independence from King John, and as the tradesmen of France broke through the ring of privilege enclosing the Three Estates, so today the millions who serve society in arduous labor on the highways, and aloft on scaffolding, and by the sides of whirling machines, are demanding that they too, and their children, shall enjoy all of the blessings that justify and make beautiful this life.

The unrest of the wage earners has been augmented by recent changes and developments in industry. Chief of these are the rapid and universal introduction and extension of machinery of production, by which unskilled workers may be substituted for the skilled, and on equally rapid development of means

When the Germans began to clear up the debris of the war in a Belgian village they had taken they found themselves short of men. Some one thought of the Hagenbeck elephants in Hamburg, and one was sent for. He was easily trained to do heavy work, the work of several men, and this photograph shows him working as calmly as he might have done in India.

ANSWERED TENTATIVE PEACE SUGGESTIONS

By J. W. T. Mason, for United Press

Premier Viviani of France and the British foreign minister, Sir Edward Grey, have answered in entirely different moods the tentative peace suggestions which are coming from Germany.

The French prime minister's reply is a vague reference to France's resolve to fight until Belgium is freed and Alsace and Lorraine are reconquered. Sir Edward Grey goes much further than this patriotic generality. With that instinct for statesmanship which he possesses in large measure England's foreign secretary discusses the German demand for freedom of the seas and admits it is a fit subject for negotiation. This, indeed, is the longest step toward peace England has taken since the war began. Sir Edward links the demand for freedom of the seas with the counterproposal for limitation of armament and a suggestion for universal peace. Germany must be bound pledges as well as England, says Sir Edward.

Germany also must abandon any effort to collect a war indemnity from the Allies and must not attempt to impose her will on the world—which means, in all probability, that peace terms cannot be dictated by Germany, but must be made in a general agreement. While not reiterated by Sir Edward Grey, England will require the evacuation of Belgium as part of the price of peace; but the future status of Alsace and Lorraine must be a secondary matter for the British empire. If France cannot recover her lost provinces by herself, England would scarcely be justified in killing off her own male population to make a territorial gift to the French.

Premier Viviani's declaration that the war shall continue until Alsace and Lorraine are won is not, in all probability, arousing much interest in Berlin. This speech was addressed to the chamber of deputies, which is growing restless under the strain of an indecisive conflict, rather than to the German foreign office. But Sir Edward's statement is altogether different. It is a reply to the German chancellor's address to the reichstag and that fact alone makes it of great importance.

The British foreign minister does not adopt a tone which repels future public exchanges between himself and Von Bethmann-Hollweg.

Unquestionably it can be said that the first informal peace negotiations are now, in fact, under way. Instead of being conducted through intermediaries they are taking the form of public statements delivered by responsible ministers of England and Germany. Each nation is cautiously sounding the other, after the first extravagances have been brushed aside, a common basis for consenting to an armistice may reveal itself.

of rapid transportation and communication, by which private capital has been enabled to centralize in great corporations and large factories has been furthered by the necessity of employing large sums of capital in order to purchase and install expensive machinery, the use of which is practicable only when production is conducted on a large scale. Work formerly done at home or in small neighborhood shops has been transferred to great factories where the individual worker becomes an impersonal element under the control of impersonal corporations, without voice in determining the conditions under which he works, and largely without interest in the success of the enterprise or the disposal of the products. Women in increasing numbers have followed their work from the home to the factory, and even children have been enlisted.

Now more than ever the profits of great industries under centralized control pour into the coffers of the stockholders and directors who never have so much as visited the plants, and who perform no service in return. And while vast inherited fortunes representing zero in social service to the credit of their possessors, automatically treble and multiple in volume, two-third of those who toil for eight to twelve hours a day receive less than enough to support themselves and their families in decency and comfort. From childhood to the grave they dwell in the shadow of fear that their only resource—their opportunity to toil—shall be taken away from them, through accident, illness, the caprice of a foreman, or the fortunes of the industry. The lives of their babies are snuffed out by bad air in cheap lodgings, and the lack of nourishment and care which they cannot buy. Fathers and husbands die or are maimed in accidents, and their families receive a pittance, or succumb in mid-life and they receive nothing.

And when these unfortunates seek, by the only means within reach, to better their lot by organizing to lift themselves from helplessness to some measure of collective power, with which to wring living wages from their employers, they find too often arrayed against them not only the massed power of capital, but every arm of the government that was created to enforce guarantees of equality and justice.

We find that many entire communities exist under the arbitrary economic control of corporation officials charged with the management of an industry or group of industries, and we find that in such communities political liberty does not exist, and its forms or hollow mockeries. Give to the employer power to discharge without cause, to grant or withhold to the thousands the opportunity to earn their bread, and the liberties of such a community lie in the hollow of the employer's hand. Free speech, free assembly, and a free press may be denied, as they have been denied time and again, and the employer's agents may be placed in public office to do his bidding.

In larger communities where espionage becomes impossible, the wage earner who is unsupported by a collective organization may enjoy freedom of expression outside the work shop but there his freedom ends. And it is a freedom more apparent than real. For the house he lives in, the food he eats, the clothing he wears, the environment of his wife and children, and his own health and safety, are in the hands of the employer, through the arbitrary power which he exercises in fixing his wages and working conditions.

The social responsibility for these unfortunate conditions may be fixed with reasonable certainty. The responsibility as such blame as attached thereto, cannot be held to rest upon employers, since in the maintenance of the evils of low wages, long hours and bad factory conditions, and in their attempts to gain control of economic and industries and political advantages, which would promote their interests, they have merely followed the natural bent of men engaged in the struggle of competitive industry. The responsibility for conditions which have been described above, rests primarily upon the workers, who, blind to their collective strength, and often deaf to the cries of their fellows, have suffered exploitation and invasions of their most sacred rights without resistance. A large measure of responsibility must, however, attach to the great mass of citizens, who though not directly involved in the struggle with capital and labor, have failed to realize that their own prosperity was dependent upon the welfare of all classes of the community, and that their rights were bound up with the rights of every other individual. But, until the workers themselves realize their responsibility and utilize to the full, their collective power, no action, whether governmental or altruistic, can work any genuine and lasting improvement.

Fourteen years before Abraham Lincoln was called to the high office where he immortalized his name, he uttered these great truths:

"Inasmuch as good things are produced by labor, it follows that all such things of right belong to those whose labor produced them. But it so happened in all ages of the world, that some have labored and others have without labor enjoyed a large proportion of the fruits. This is wrong and should not continue. To secure to each laborer, the whole product of his labor, or as nearly as possible is a worthy subject of any good government."

With this lofty ideal for a goal, under the sublime leadership of the deathless Lincoln, we call upon your citizenship regardless of politics, or economic considerations, to use every means of agitation, all avenues of education, and every department and function of government to eliminate the injustices exposed by this commission, to the end that each laborer may secure the whole product of his labor."

SHOT BY HIS OWN REVOLVER

Indiana State's Attorney Asserts Rev. Kayser Was Slain in Quarrel.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 28.—Rev. Edmund A. M. Kayser, who was shot and killed in his home at Tolleston, Ind., a suburb, Tuesday night, and whose murderer has not yet been apprehended, was buried.

The only development was the arrest of Thomas Mojesch, an inspector at the Gary steel mills, and a statement by State's Attorney Hunter that Kayser was shot by his own revolver as the result of a quarrel over business matters with persons who called on him the night of the murder.

The nature of the information, against Mojesch was not revealed.

NEW METHOD OF SHOP PAYMENTS

Result of the Semi-Monthly Pay Day Law Recently Put in Force Men Will be

OBLIGED TO CASH CHECKS

As They Please, Instead of Having Them Cashed at the Shops by Representatives of the Bank

The First National bank of Brainerd has for years cashed the pay checks for the employees of the Northern Pacific railway shop and other employees in this city, taking their own money from the First National bank vaults to the shops each payday for this purpose, but the method has been changed owing to the frequent payments now necessary, the following communication having been received by this bank from C. A. Clark, treasurer of the company:

"On account of the employees receiving their pay now twice a month, resulting in their checks being much smaller each pay day, and, on account of the additional expense incurred in so doing, I have decided to let each employee get his check cashed as he pleases. I desire to cancel the agreement with your bank, under which you have been taking money to the shops and cashing checks."

This new method will make it necessary for merchants and others to provide sufficient means to cash these checks during the evening following pay day, and will undoubtedly be found very inconvenient as compared with the former method; both to the employee and their families, as well as merchants and others who may find it necessary to take care of these checks.

LESLIE HITT SOME PITCHER

Pitches a No Hit, No Run Game for Bowdon, N. D., Against Goodrich, Score 10 to 0

That Leslie Hitt is developing into a first grade pitcher is evidenced by the front page story of the Bowdon-Goodrich game, score 10 to 0 in favor of Bowdon, N. D., where Hitt pitched a no hit no run game. The "Bowdon Guardian" of August 26 says:

"Manager Eynon and his bunch of champion ball players invaded the sacred precincts of our neighboring county of Sheridan last Sunday afternoon and gave the champion ball team of that county, Goodrich, an awful trouncing by a score of 10 to 0. Leslie Hitt, a friend of Emil Thorgard, who came here a few weeks ago from Brainerd, Minn., to assist in the harvest fields did the pitching for the team and scored another no hit no-run game for Bowdon. He was given almost perfect support by the team only one man getting to first on an error and as he walked but two during the game only three of the Goodrich team reached first base. Only one ball was batted to the outfield which looked very much like a hit but left fielder Burkett took a hard chance and was successful in getting it and made a double play on it. The bunch did some sensational hitting. The Goodrich team will play a return game here on Sunday, August 29th, and Manager McKinnon promises to give our boys a game worth the price of admission."

BRAINERD PLAYS AITKIN SUNDAY

Ed Bowman to Play in One of the Outer Garden Positions, Kalland on First

THE WEATHER MAN MAY FAIL

Aitkin Will Appear With About the Same Lineup, Confident Brainerd Will Meet Waterloo

According to the weather man, Brainerd is destined to meet some real weather tomorrow, Sunday, in their second clash with Aitkin for baseball honors. The forecast is cloudy and showers but despite the forewarnings, arrangements are being made to take care of a record crowd.

The team from Aitkin have played such a sterling class of ball, that the whole town are enthused and passing the buck around with the statement that Brainerd will meet their Waterloo tomorrow without any doubt. Practically the same line-up will be seen in action tomorrow as played in the first game while Brainerd will have as strong a front as presented in some earlier games.

Fred Cook, who has so well balanced the team, will be out of the line up tomorrow having signed to play with Long Prairie in their wind-up series of the league. Harold Kalland who held down the first sack two years ago has again been prevailed upon to don the spangles while Ed Bowman, the Pine River boy who has pitched several games for Brainerd, will be in one of the outer gardens.

Tanner, Little Falls' first string catcher, will be behind the batter again and with an even break in luck, it is expected the local lads will again cop the bunting. The game will start at 3:30 promptly, weather permitting.

COL. THORP AT STATE FAIR

Given Half as Much Space as Allowed the Average County to Exhibit His Products

TALKS ON NEW FARMING PLAN

Two Years Ago Col. Thorp at His Own Expense had Exhibit and Was Only Man of County

Strawberries, plums, corn and other products raised in accordance with the new farming methods promulgated by Col. Freeman Thorp at his demonstration farm at Hubert will be exhibited in a special exhibit at the state fair. Col. Thorp is editor of the "New Farmer," published in Brainerd and which explains his new farming methods, the conservation of moisture, etc.

To Col. Thorp has been given space equal to half allowed the ordinary county exhibit and without charge, as the state fair management is desirous of having him exhibit and explain his methods.

Col. Thorp is energetic and public spirited, for one year when Crow Wing county had no exhibit he paid for his own space and had plums and other fruits on display. Col. Thorp lays particular stress on the value of sandy land which under proper management becomes a great producer. "The best fertilizer in northern Minnesota," said Col. Thorp "is right at hand and has been previously unrecognized. It is the black muck deposits in wet meadows and acts as a splendid fertilizer for sandy land."

Kirby is held to be guilty and a fine of $500 imposed. J. E. Hipple individually was adjudged not guilty. The Hipple Printing company was declared guilty and a fine of $100 imposed. The disbarment proceedings against Kirby on the same statement of facts was not decided.

VERY HANDSOME BOOTH MADE

Committee Anxious to Obtain Samples of Garden Vegetables, Pop Corn, Sweet Corn, Fruit

Crow Wing is bound to be counted in the winning column when it comes to farm produce and agricultural development according to the enthusiasm of members of the Agricultural Committee of the Chamber of Commerce who are diligently gathering high class specimens to ship to the state fair for the exhibit September 6th to 12th. The booth is to be one of the handsomest in the agricultural building with its gold leaf finish and fine arrangement, while the unique decorative design being carried out under the able direction of Jas. Huston of Woolworth's store should bring forth many favorable comments and place the showing in the scoring column.

The committee are particularly anxious to obtain samples of garden vegetables, fruit and table corn. Anyone having a garden are requested to bring to the warehouse of the Farmers Produce company not later than Tuesday evening, August 31st any specimens of sweet corn, pop corn, garden or stock vegetables or canned fruit which they may wish to exhibit. Owing to the short space of time in which to collect perishable samples, those having high class specimens should respond as liberally and punctually as possible.

ARE SUFFOCATED TO DEATH

General Pershing's Wife and Three Children Fire Victims.

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Warren Pershing, the five-year-old son of Brigadier General John J. Pershing, is the only survivor of General Pershing's family of five, having been rescued from the burning home at the Presidio of San Francisco, when his mother and three sisters, Mary Margaret, Anne and Helen, were suffocated and burned to death.

Warren was picked up unconscious on the floor of his bedroom by officers and men who crawled through the burning house, searching for Mrs. Pershing and her four children. Warren revived quickly. The others had died of suffocation before the rescuers reached them. They were burned about the head, hands and feet.

General Pershing, commanding troops on the Texas border, left El Paso when informed that his wife and three children were dead. He will arrive here Sunday morning.

WORLD'S GREATEST EXPOSITION!

LIVESTOCK SHOW.—One million dollars worth of pure bred horses, cattle, swine and sheep from all parts of America will be exhibited for premiums totaling nearly $40,000. As a demonstration of the most economical types of farm animals it will be an extremely efficient feature. As the Fair Management is encouraging breeders to bring as much of their stock with them as possible, to turn the show into a great public livestock market, visitors will be given an excellent chance to buy foundation stock for home herds and flocks.

AGRICULTURE.—Approximately forty county exhibits, each one telling a vivid story about the local resources, will be artistically grouped in the "Big Dome" Building. A large number of samples of all the grains grown in Minnesota will be shown. The corn show will be much larger than ever before, due largely to the work of the boys taking part in the state acre-yield corn contest.

FRUITS, FLOWERS AND VEGETABLES.—An immense commercial apple display will feature the fruit show this year. Other fruits will be shown in profusion. Thousands of dollars worth of beautiful plants and flowers will be exhibited. As Minnesota has always been noted for the size and quantity of its vegetables, little need be said of this display, save that considerable premium money has been laid aside for them.

PUBLIC WELFARE.—The Public Welfare Department, in charge of women's activities, has prepared a pretentious program for fair week. On the first three and last two days of the week, each morning and afternoon, in the Hall of Fame, music, addresses, and discussions, in charge of different women's organizations, will make up the feature program. A story hour for children will be held nearly every noon. Late each afternoon folk dancing and a Camp Fire Girls' Council will be held. A clothing exhibit for women and children will prove an attractive feature. The Baby Health Contest and Child Welfare exhibit in the Woman's Building will also prove intensely interesting.

BEEES.—The largest exhibit of honey ever seen at the Minnesota State Fair will be displayed this year. A demonstration is to be conducted each day showing how honey is extracted, over fifteen tons of honey being used. The leading bee men of the state will supervise this demonstration and students from the Minnesota Agricultural College will extract the honey under their direction.

DAIRY PRODUCTS.—The Dairy Building will be filled completely with butter and cheese of the finest quality. Dairy machinery of improved design for home and factory use will be displayed on a large scale.

MACHINERY SHOW.—Over seventy acres are used for the machinery exhibit, which is conceded to be the largest held anywhere. No type of farm machine will be absent. Much of this machinery will be in motion to demonstrate its usefulness. Tractors of all kinds, threshing machines, plows that turn a dozen furrows, gasoline engines, barn equipment and hundreds of other types of machines are shown.

POULTRY SHOW.—Birds of all kinds will be shown in the Poultry Building, which is the second best in the country. Visitors will see chicks in different stages of incubation. Incubators, trap nests, automatic watering vessels and every conceivable contrivance used in the poultry industry will be on exhibition.

This exhibit has been prepared under direct supervision of the United States Department of the Interior, and will be one of the novel exhibits at the fair.

PARCEL POST SHOW.—Under direct charge of the postmasters of Minneapolis and St. Paul a comprehensive parcel post exhibit is to be shown in a very prominent quarter of the Agricultural Building. Principal emphasis will be placed upon the types of packages suited to the shipment of farm products to the cities, the things of particular interest to the producer being given primary consideration.

DOG SHOW.—The only State Fair Bench Show in America will accommodate more dogs than ever. It will be the leading American Kennel Club show in the Northwest this year. All breeds are shown.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS.—Nearly 5,000 entries give this department supremacy over any other one in the country. Rural, graded, consolidated and agricultural high schools from all parts of the state will take part. All kinds of school work are to be shown.

ART SHOW.—Art subjects worth more than $250,000 are to be exhibited this year, making it one of the largest art shows in America. Artists from all over the United States will compete. The art galleries are new and modern.

BABY SHOW.—Country, village and city babies from each corner of Minnesota will be shown all the week in a big glass cage in the center of the Woman's Building. The physical examinations will be public. Awards will be made at a big public reception the last day of the fair.

FORESTRY.—The State Forestry Department is to show how reforestation should be done, how land in the Northwest suited only for forestry should be cared for, and how the work of the forestry department is carried on. An annex of the Agricultural Building will be used.

AUTO SHOW.—The auto show will present the first comprehensive exhibit of the new 1916 models held in the Northwest. It will be the biggest show of its kind ever held at the State Fair.

CHILD WELFARE.—A child welfare exhibit of comprehensive scope will fill one entire quarter of the Woman's Building. Play material for schools and homes will be shown. The United States Department of Labor is co-operating.

NEW ENGLAND EXHIBIT.—The art of home furnishing is neatly and efficiently demonstrated in the New England exhibit. The latest carpets, furniture and home equipment are shown.

Spick and Span
Balkan Capital

BY HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Sophia, Bulgaria, Aug. 2 (By Mail).—From the spick and span, but none the less modest little Balkan capital, Sophia has become the center of the world's greatest lobby, and the lobby for the greatest thing in the world—victory in the present war.

By the vicissitudes of the present great European conflict and their peculiar geographical position Bulgaria has come more than any one other to hold an influence over the future destinies of all Europe.

Were Bulgaria suddenly to join the Allies, and falling on the back of Turkey capture Constantinople from the rear, the Allies could at last pass the Dardanelles and carry to Russia the help in supplies and munitions that might quickly turn the whole current of the war in their favor.

If Bulgaria continues neutral, the possibility of the capture of Constantinople from the Chatalja line is removed and the eventual passage of the Dardanelles if not rendered impossible will be so indefinitely delayed as to enable Germany in the meantime to follow up her successes against Russia and turn the whole current of the war in her favor.

This, at least, is the way the great European powers now involved in the conflict view the situation and that is why the lobby is here.

In Europe they do not call it lobbying. It passes under the more polite term of diplomacy. In reality, however, there is not a method nor a tactic known to the most common or the most distinguished lobbyist at Washington or any American state capitol that is not being used to win over the various members of the Bulgarian cabinet, the members of parliament, the political leaders, the heads of the army and even Czar Ferdinand, the Queen and the crown prince themselves. It may be that diplomacy and lobbying are merely the European and the American terms for the one and the same thing or it may be that the issue at stake is so great that the exalted and dignified diplomacy of Europe has been reduced to the methods and practices of the vulgar and most common of American lobbyists.

The lobby is naturally divided into two great camps, that of Germany, Austria and Turkey, and that of France, England, Russia, Italy and Serbia. To the regularly accredited diplomatic representatives of these countries there has been added a whole army of special diplomatic and other agents, every one of whom has been selected with an eye to his special influence on the Bulgarian government as a whole.

Both camps have now made more or less concrete propositions to Bulgaria. Germany, Austria and Turkey have told her that if she will remain neutral till the end of the war they will give her all of Serbian Macedonia, which after all is the one thing Bulgaria most desires. This offer presumes a final victory for Germany in which event Serbia would become an Austrian province and would have nothing to say as to the disposition of her territory. Minor inducements also have been included in the German offer.

The allies on their part in exchange for Bulgaria's participation in the war and her capture of Constantinople from the rear have offered:

1. The bulk of what remains of the Turkish empire in Europe including the city of Adrianople which the Bulgarians captured in the first Balkan war but lost in the second.
2. Portions of Serbian Macedonia which Serbia, it is hoped, at the request of the Allies will cede.
3. The best efforts of the Allies to secure from Greece and Roumania the cession of those territories which were taken from Bulgaria at the close of the second Balkan war.

In response to these offers Bulgaria has frankly admitted she is in the market not necessarily to the higher bidder but to the one who will give her the most solid guarantee that the promises made will be carried out; or, rather, she demands, that in as far as possible, her compensation be given her in advance in order that there be no short change operations after the war such as she alleges were perpetrated at the close of the Balkan wars. She has expressed her readiness to treat with both sides and it is this open, receptive attitude that has resulted in the massing here of the great lobby.

In the meantime the activities of these lobbyists would be an eye opener to the most hardened Washington veteran. To all of the well known American methods have been added all the fine ones perfected during the last half century by European diplomacy.

Naturally that of the press plays one of the most important, if sometimes ridiculous parts. Every day English and French lobbyists come out with equally as flamboyant official communications telling of smashing advances by the Allies troops in the campaign at Gallipoli. With equal hurrahs the Turkish lobby comes out with equally as flamboyant announcements showing that the Allied army at Gallipoli is in exactly the same position it was the day it disembarked and equally as powerless to advance as it is to retreat and be taken off by the ships. It can be safely said that no one at Sophia has the remotest idea of the actual status of the present operations against the Dardanelles. On the day I arrived here direct from the Dardanelles I fancied I knew how things were going but two days after my arrival the lobbyists had got in their fine work and I haven't the least idea.

Naturally the decision of Bulgaria is of the most supreme importance to Turkey. In order to carry on her present effective resistance at the Dardanelles Turkey has denuded the rest of her territory of cannons and troops. Bulgaria's decision to attack her from the rear would be tantamount to the end of Turkey in Europe. Not content with sending here his best diplomats and lobbyists, Talat Bey, the minister of the interior and the most powerful man in all Turkey today, has recently visited Sophia in person in an effort to solidify an understanding.

On all sides the German lobby is admitted to have one great thing in its favor. It is not necessary to persuade Bulgaria to remain neutral. The end can be attained by merely keeping Bulgaria in such a state of indecision that before she can come to a conclusion the moment when her help would have been most effective will have passed and her actual help to the Allies rendered of little if of any value. It is the impression in outside circles at Sophia that Bulgaria is going to have a mighty hard time to find out what would be best for her to do and a harder time, after she has found out, actually to do it.

RUSSIA IS RAISING
2,000,000 MORE MEN.

London, Aug. 28.—General Polivanoff, Russian minister of war, announces that Russia is raising another 2,000,000 men and that the fate of the campaign will not be decided before some time next year, according to the Petrograd correspondent of the Times.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Brainerd Citizens Show a Way

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Brainerd citizen says:

Mrs. Caroline Sundberg, 1504 E. Pine St., Brainerd, says: "I suffered for several years from backache. I was uncomfortable while I was doing my work and often I couldn't sleep well. I was distressed by dizzy spells and often after I stood for awhile, my feet swelled and bloated. The doctor said I had kidney trouble but failed to help me. Finally, I got Doan's Kidney Pills at H. P. Dunn's Drug Store. The pains in my back left and I felt stronger and was better able to do my work." (Statement given August 31, 1908.)

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Sundberg said: "The relief Doan's Kidney Pills gave me from backaches and kidney troubles has been permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Sundberg had. Foster-McBurn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

YOUR BLOOD

is the canal of life but it becomes a sewer if clogged up. All life consists of building up and tearing down and just in the same manner that the blood carries to the various parts of the body the food that the cells need for building up, so it is compelled to carry away the waste material that's torn down. These waste materials are poisonous and destroy us unless the liver and kidneys are stimulated into refreshed and vigorous life.

DR. PIERCE'S Golden Medical Discovery
